Ⅳ 次の長文について、それぞれの間に番号で答えよ。

“Peanuts” is one of the most famous comic strips in the world. Created by Charles M. Schulz, it first appeared in 1950. The comic features a group of children, with Charlie Brown as the main character. Schulz's unique drawing style and storytelling made “Peanuts” special and loved by many.

Charles Schulz was born in 1922 in Minneapolis, Minnesota. From a young age, he loved to draw. He even created a small comic strip called “Li'l Folks” while he was still in high school. In 1947, he began to work on “Peanuts.” The first strip was published on October 2, 1950. It featured Charlie Brown and his dog, Snoopy.

“Peanuts” became popular very quickly. The characters, such as Lucy, Linus, and Peppermint Patty, became well-known. Each character had a unique personality, which made the comic relatable and funny. Schulz wrote about everyday life, friendship, and childhood problems, allowing readers of all ages to connect with the stories.

The comic strip ran for nearly 50 years, ending in 2000, shortly after Schulz passed away. By that time, “Peanuts” was published in more than 2,600 newspapers worldwide, reaching millions of readers. Schulz's work won many awards, including the Reuben Award from the National Cartoonists Society.

In addition to the comic strip, “Peanuts” became famous for its television specials. The first one, “A Charlie Brown Christmas,” aired in 1965. It was a huge success and is still watched every holiday season.

In conclusion, “Peanuts” started as a simple comic strip and grew into a beloved part of American culture. Charles Schulz's creativity and talent brought joy to many, and his characters continue to entertain people around the world.
